We're In Top Five Of KCC Competition

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce announced this week that the civic scrapbook entered in the Chamber's state-wide Community Development contest by the Fulton Chamber of Commerce has won one of the five top awards.

The notification to the local Chamber of Commerce did not say which award was won, and local members will have a month to speculate on their good fortune: Is it $1000 or $100?

The five awards are $1000, $700, $200, $150 and $100.

The following letter dated March 3, was received here Wednesday by Dr. E. F. Crocker, president of the local chamber:

Dear Dr. Crocker:
Judging of the 56 entries in the 1958 Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Community Development contest was conducted by the panel of judges on Thursday, February 26, 1959.

It is our pleasure at this time to advise you that Fulton's contest entry was adjudged among the five best in group 1. The final ranking of the first five communities in each category will be announced on April 14, 1959 at the Annual meeting of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. We will keep you advised on the program and your participation. We extend you congratulations. Sincerely,

Prison Site Definite, Says Gray

Washington—The Crab Orchard, Ill., area definitely has been picked by the Bureau of Prisons as the site of a $10 million federal prison, Congressman Kenneth Gray (D-Ill.) said Tuesday.

"This will be verified when hearings before the appropriations committee are printed within 30 days or so," Gray, who lives in West Frankfort, told The Sun-Democrat.

The site selection is no longer an issue but the project is menaced in another way, Gray indicated.

One site is the Hickman, Ky., area.

Traffic was heavy in Fulton last Sunday afternoon as hundreds drove up to the big "Clothes Bank" box car to donate usable things for the needy. (Above) A group of Explorer Scouts were among the many who helped with the collections.

Sunday was a cold day, and as the clothes came in for the Clothes Bank, up stroled this quartet of youngsters in dire need of something to wear. Kind workers outfitted them from incoming stocks, and here they are in their "new" wardrobes.

Clothes Bank Is Stocked... Let The Cold Winds Blow

By Jo Westpheling

"Let the cold winds blow" could be the slogan to be used by the new Fulton Area Clothes Bank. For when the cold winds blow they will not bring suffering to the poor and needy... not anymore.

Last Sunday's drive for depositors in the Clothes Bank was a tremendous success from all standpoints. Clothes, shoes, bed clothing, and a variety of other comfortable items were brought in from every corner of the area with a hope and a prayer that each donation will bring comfort and a measure of happiness to the many persons who will be benefited by the new Fulton Area Clothes Bank.

Long recognized as a vital need for the Fulton area (Fulton, Hickman, South Fulton school area, etc.), the Clothes Bank came about as a result of the constant demands made upon business people, churches, civic and fraternal groups, who realized the need for a central agency to collect and distribute clothing.

When a group of interested citizens called upon WFUL to assist in such a movement it was decided that a mass appeal, setting forth the vital need for such an agency, should be brought before the people.

When the appeal was made the response was enthusiastic and when on Sunday, March 1, the various committees in Fulton, South Fulton and Hickman went about collecting garments there was no doubt that charity begins at home and home is where comfort was needed.

While a hand full of people worked diligently to bring about the Fulton Area Clothes Bank, it was the response of hundreds of people that made the drive a success. When one of the key persons was contacted with reference to his part in the drive he said:

"There's no need to put anybody's name in the paper... it was a movement that needs no name calling, but a movement that needs prayerful thanks that the poor of our communities will be taken care of." Most enthusiastic about the drive and the permanent Clothes Bank are those ministers, health nurses and welfare workers who see in the clothes depository a solution to the area's problem for clothes for the needy.

The bank will be housed in the building formerly occupied by the Fred Roberson Grocery Store in South Fulton. A group of volunteer workers has been working tirelessly to assort the clothing and arrange it so that when demands are made they can be easily handled.

Withdrawals from the bank will be made upon the recommendation of the health nurses, welfare workers and ministers.

Local Guilds To Be Hosts To Groups

Members of the two Wesleyan Service Guilds of First Methodist Church will be hosts to the Guilds of the Paris District at a district Guild meeting to be held at the local church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

City Of Fulton To Begin Garbage Service, Install Lights In Highlands

The City of Fulton will start garbage service Friday morning to the Highlands area, which became a part of the city on Feb. 24, it was announced at the Fulton City Council meeting Monday night.

Garbage will be picked up in Highlands each Friday morning from now on.

The council also voted to instruct the Kentucky Utilities company to get facilities to put in street lights in Highlands. There will be a street light at each street intersection and in the middle of each block.

The residents of the area are now required to purchase city auto stickers. They are $10. The deadline for purchasing the stickers was March 1.

The Highlands area was annexed to the City of Fulton at a called meeting of the council on Feb. 23, and it became official with the publication of the ordinance on Feb. 24.

$331.47 COLLECTED

South Fulton's Heart Fund totaled $331.47, according to the chairman, Mrs. Elsie Provow. Mrs. Provow is grateful to all who worked in the drive or helped in anyway to make the Heart Fund collection a success.

South Fulton Teacher Is Good Example For Young People Today

By Martha Jane Weeks

There is a way for anyone who wants to go to college. An earnest desire to learn and an aspiration for the better things in life are the prime factors in determining whether or not one gets a college education.

As in anything else, it is much easier to get it at somebody else's expense than to earn it yourself. But if a person is willing to face up to facts, stand on his own two feet, work hard, and study hard, he is well on his way. In addition he must self discipline himself by doing without some of the things that he might want.

Mr. Guy W. Finch, teacher of Social Studies at South Fulton High School, had all of the qualities mentioned above and through a long, hard struggle has accumulated two baccalaureate degrees. He received an A. B. from Lincoln Memorial University near Cumberland Gap, Tennessee and a B. S. in Agriculture from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

The most powerful force that influenced Guy was the casual talks of his high school principal at Chestnut Glade High. Mr. A. J. Lowe, now teaching at Fulton High School, talked freely and enthusiastically to his students about his own college days. By encouraging them in this way, a yearning for a college education was born in Guy.

As is the case in many families, his parents were unable to give him very much financial aid, but this didn't disturb him at all. During the summer between his eleventh and twelfth grades in high school, he carried out a farming project to make some money. After graduating from South Fulton High in 1928, he entered U. T. Junior College. By borrowing from the University of Tennessee Student Loan Fund, he was able to make out the first year.

In order to stay in school at Martin the second year, Guy had to borrow and work both. Because he was given a job as the student assistant in the Biology Department for $15.00 per month, he managed to stay in school all of that year.

Since Martin was only a Junior College then, he had to go to the University of Tennessee at Knoxville to finish. He hitch-hiked to Knoxville that summer to look things over and to make arrangements. After securing a job washing dishes in a private boarding house (for his meals), he procured a share in a small attic room at the same place.

This boarding house averaged feeding 100 persons, three times a day. It seems incredible that a person could wash all the dishes for these people and still keep up his studies, but that is exactly what Guy did. Of this he recalls, "This is a vivid memory for me because the skin on my hands cracked badly and often bled from so much dish washing in hot soapy water."

That was the year the banks went bankrupt all over the country, thus making the University's loan funds unavailable to him. He was notified by his mother about this time that the Farmers Bank of Fulton had closed and the total amount of money available to his family at that time was 17c. Having attended only one quarter when he received this news, he was forced to drop out and return home. After hitch-hiking home, he began to farm.

That year, 1931, was a combination of severe business depression and austere drouth. For his work that whole year, he made less than $50.00.

He had been out of school now for a year but since times were in such a critical condition, he couldn't do anything at home and decided that the best prospect was at Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tennessee, one mile from Cumberland Gap. At the time, his brother was in school, working all his way. Although this is a work-year-way school for southern mountaineers, his brother told him that he

What Is Work, Anyway?

A recent conference of Lutheran ministers and laymen in Ohio polled those in attendance on a clergyman's work week. Most of the ministers said they were "on the job" an average of 60 hours. That's a 10-day for a six-day week—more likely a nine-hour average for a seven-day week. The laymen thought the clergymen should work 64 hours. But we wonder how specifically they thought about what constitutes being "on the job."

What is work, anyway?

A machinist standing eight hours at his lathe, unquestionably. But that machinist may go home and gladly beautify his house with paint. An engineer leaves his drawing board and painstakingly turns out graceful furniture in his basement shop. A statistician drops his calculations to hoe his beans and tend his roses. An assembly line inspector of farm tractors looks forward during the day to hand carving rare woods at night.

Going back to "on the job". A city fireman loafs in his tilted chair for days on end, and then leaps from his bed in the dark and cold to battle the flames and rescue the occupants of a burning building—for an hour or two. A minister of the gospel spends one hour to 24 (so said the Lutheran clergymen) on his weekly sermon, then sits with the ill, the bereaved, the distraught for a day or a night or his whole holiday to comfort and to bring new strength and courage.

Relaxation to some, tedious waiting balancing intense effort and risk for another, the great reward of helpfulness for another. Does home painting steady the machinist at his lathe? Is the fireman not working while "at the ready?" Is the clergyman less "on the job" while listening compassionately than when composing some ringing phrases?

What is work, anyway?

Do You Know How The "Clothes Bank" Operates?

The "Clothes Bank" for Fulton County and South Fulton, opened last Sunday with a big kick-off drive via WFUL, will serve a purpose for the area that perhaps is not fully realized by the general public.

This is a permanent thing, open year-round. Clothes will be received all year round, although drives such as we had last Sunday may be conducted only infrequently, as the need for re-stocking arises.

Clothes have been sorted and stored both here in Fulton, and at a depository in Hickman. When disaster strikes unfortunate families and they need clothing badly, they may make application to the "caretakers" of the bank (through their minister, or the welfare department) and they will be outfitted, for free, from the stock on hand.

The most pressing need for the "bank", however, lies in helping the families who, being in desperate financial circumstances, are unable to clothe themselves and their children. The local welfare office tells us that we have no idea of the large number of these families in our area, and the untold help they will get from having such clothes available.

The clothes will be made available to the entire area. If fits cannot be obtained for needy around Hickman from the Hickman stocks, they will be provided from those at Fulton, and vice versa.

And finally, the "clothes bank" is no free give-away to everyone. A need must be established, and application made through either the pastor or the welfare department, we are advised.

This is a long-term project, and it's just starting. Save your usable clothes for it, and you will be sure that somewhere in the area they will be happily welcomed by those less fortunate.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

I Hate Lent!

by Frank A. Grady, S. J.,

High School English Instructor

"What's the use of Lent? Who likes to give up movies, cigarettes and the late evening snack? Who likes to go to church and pray more often? I hate Lent!"

Does that sound like the crying of a spoiled child? No, it is the perfectly normal reaction of most normal grown-up people. Of course we don't like to do hard things!

BUT LENT is good for us—just as spring training is good for Big League baseball players. Lent is "spring training time" for our souls, time for getting into good spiritual condition for the business of living life well. We exercise our flabby wills by denying ourselves some little legitimate pleasures and doing some "extra" good things, like setting aside time for daily prayer and spiritual reading and performing special acts of kindness to those around us. Since the earliest apostolic times Christians have always observed the traditional Lenten season. If we spend our time well during Lent, we too will be happier people Easter morning, with the glow of spiritual health on our souls.

But why bother to get into better spiritual condition? Why exercise our wills? Why deny ourselves? Why?

THE ANSWER, of course, is plain to any thinking man or woman. We know it is not important in itself whether we deny ourselves a chocolate bar or a cigarette, for these are perfectly good things, useful to our well-being. But we also know that it is very important whether we say "no" to a temptation to sin—to impurity, to dishonesty, to anger, to drunkenness. It matters a great deal whether we control our selfishness and bridle the passions and impulses that would shipwreck our character and our happiness and the happiness of those near and dear to us. It matters a great deal whether we save our souls—whether we overcome those habits of sin that offend God and endanger our salvation.

Any thinking man or woman knows the truth of this. How successfully we will emerge from those crucial and all-important battles with ourselves and our temptations in life may very well depend, aside from God's grace, on the self-control we have acquired by such little things as denying ourselves candy and cigarettes, or resolutely offering God a few minutes of extra prayer during Lent.

LENT is the time to add our little bit to Christ's redeeming sufferings for our salvation. These little practices of self-denial are the "insurance" we pay on our happiness and our spiritual well-being, for our own good, and for those near and dear to us. In them we love Jesus Christ our God, Who has suffered so much for each one of us, for the salvation of your soul and of mine. Can we let Jesus Christ down by failing to do our part in securing our eternal happiness?

Lent, you see, is a good time after all. It is the best thing we can do for ourselves—and the least we can do for Christ, our most loving Redeemer.

A hand that has been short in rendering services to others should not be stretched out in quest of high places.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

Turning Back The Clock--

Fulton does not want to lose the Fair Grounds.

That is the sentiment prevalent among local business men and civic-minded citizens.

The Fulton Fair Association was organized in 1911, and since that time many successful fairs have been held here. The stockholders and directors have played an important role in the promotion of community and agricultural progress of this territory.

But with the ever-changing conditions, in this modern age of good highways and fast transportation, the operation of county fairs on a self-sustaining basis has become more and more difficult. The years of the depression worked undue hardships on enterprises of this type as they did no business activities.

The amateur fights held at the Fulton Athletic Club last Friday night under the auspices of the American Legion, with Bobby Matthews, promoter, proved to be popular and entertaining.

Models for the Spring Fashion Show to be held at the New Malco Fulton on Wednesday night, March 8th, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club have been announced.

"Pee Wee" Nanney, Murray State College student, of Fulton, was a technical knockout victim in his fight in the tournament of champions at the Chicago Stadium Tuesday night.

Ed E. Willingham, well known I. C. engineer, and prominent citizen of Fulton, died Tuesday night in the Illinois Central Hospital in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dunn of St. Louis, Mo., announce the birth of a son, weight eight and one half pounds, born Monday morning in the Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. The baby has been named Robert Glenn, Jr.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

THE NEWS welcomes expressions from its readers. Such items must be signed but name will be omitted from publication if requested.

Dear Editor,

I have just passed my 89th birthday, and several of whom I call my babies came to see me. I am writing this for them to remember me by.

TO MY BABIES

Babies the time will come and it may not be long, when, you may be reading this and pappy will be gone. And while this might be silly. It's the best I could do. My hopes are when you read it. It will bring a good thought to you.

Babies, you will have trouble in life. As, trouble will always come. But, behind those dark clouds. There is always a beautiful sun.

Play the game straight, babies and then you will see. The game you thought so hard to beat. Is just as easy as it can be.

Don't try and tend to your business. And someone else's too. For then you will be awful busy. And they will have nothing to do.

And one more thing, babies. I want you to remember too. The dogs on top, don't need your help. But, the ones on the bottom, do.

Don't repeat gossip, babies. Don't listen, if you don't have too.

The one that is telling it to you today. Tomorrow will be telling it about you.

"Nothing can be done without Charity"

I have heard, for many a day. And some people think that means. Giving money or something away.

But, no babies Charity is love. And so easily spent. Anytime or place, you can spend it. Without costing a cent.

Easter Seal Campaign Opens March 9 Here

The opening of the 1959 Easter Seal Campaign March 9 will be marked by the mailing of approximately 400,000 letters containing seals to residents in every county in Kentucky.

The Kentucky Society for Crippled Children—the Easter Seal Society—will continue its campaign through March 29, Easter Sunday.

Contributions to Easter Seals finance a statewide program of therapy, medical and hospital care, and recreation for children crippled by many causes.

Easter Seals for the 1959 campaign are of two designs: One showing a boy on crutches against a background silhouette of two active youngsters; the second showing the traditional Easter

Lily.

Last year the Easter Seal appeal in Kentucky raised $234,896.76, with which the Society gave direct service to 3,877 physically handicapped youngsters.

In urging that Kentuckians give widespread support to the Society, George Kavanaugh, state chairman, pointed out that the cost of hospital and clinic care for crippled children has increased during the past year.

"This is our once-a-year appeal to the general public," Kavanaugh emphasized.

"For more than 30 years Kentuckians have been most generous in supporting the Society's programs and we are sure that the response to the 1959 appeal will be even greater," he said.

Many of you people have inquired from time to time, concerning my novel, THEY DARED TO BE DIFFERENT.

To bring you up to date on my first attempt at fiction and of writing a novel... the book is now in the hands of a publishing company in Hollywood, Calif. I feel that most likely they will not publish the book; but I am not discouraged for I received a three-page letter from the publisher Monday—and that's quite unusual. It was a very nice and encouraging letter. He was very complimentary of my writing and wants to see more of my work. The high to by first novel is the subject, I wrote on, which deals with interracial marriage—a very dangerous subject.

Although the publisher's agent in Hollywood and the publisher in Muskogee, Okla., both read the book, the publisher is holding it to be read by an editor-friend of his, to confirm his own views on the matter.

The publisher's letter, in part, follows:
"My sincere thanks for sending me the novel, THEY DARED TO BE DIFFERENT, which finally caught up with me here in Oklahoma. I have read the novel—as a matter of fact I have just completed my reading of it—upon the recommendation of my representative in Hollywood, who found it of sufficient interest to send it on to me here. I have been 'on the road' for a while, in the interest of several other books on my list, and while I'm sorry to have kept you waiting for a report, I'm sure you understand."

"THEY DARED TO BE DIFFERENT has much merit, and the author has talent."

"Where you leave the field of contention and give us the background of Kentucky, the small-town people, their habits and their unique customs, you delight us no end. You have a keen eye for character, a fluent style, and there lurks some fine Dickensian characters in your mind.

"You have a quiet, charming way with your characters. They come to life quickly, and we, the readers, are interested in them."

"You have a great deal of talent, and it may be that you will want to publish this book with one of the New York publishers. However, it costs me nothing to advise you not to do it, and instead to get another book ready."

"I cannot refrain from further comment on your eye and ear for character. This is one of the few novels in which I have seen a Southern Baptist presented as I, personally, know Southern Baptists. You have photographed these kind-hearted tradition-loving people with your pen."

"Your approach is suggestive of Sherwood Anderson's hometown tales, and you might re-read his 'Winesburg Tales', and 'Tar', with some profit, since you strike me as being a feminine counterpart of this gifted Hoosier author."

"In summary, let me say that I am much interested in you as a writer, and I feel that you can write other books."

"I would like to see more of your work at any time."

We understand that Mrs. Chester Gregory's mother has arrived here from Germany to make her home with her daughter in South Fulton. We wish to extend to the lady a very warm welcome to our city. We hope you will like it here.

We are reading a very interesting book entitled "Oklahoma" by E. D. Nix, a former U. S. Marshal of the Oklahoma Territory and formerly of Murray, Ky.

The first part of the book speaks of Fulton, Murray and Paducah and Mr. Nix relates that his friend, Charles Meacham of Fulton made the trip to Oklahoma with him.

Col. Nix is a brother of Mrs. Ed (Mae) Ligon, who formerly lived on Eddings Street, and he married Ellen Feltz on July 15, 1885.

Mrs. Jewell McClain, who loaned me the book, which was published in 1929, met the author in Oklahoma City back years ago and her late husband, Bill McClain, and Col. Nix's brother and his wife made a trip to Florida together.

The book is filled with pictures of famous outlaws and lawmen of the Old West associated in some way with the author and it was Col. Nix who fired the pistol to start the run for a homestead—the Cherokee Outlet on Sept. 16, 1893, the greatest contest for a home known to man, Col. Nix was a U. S. Marshal at the time.

Contrary to popular belief that the City of Fulton was first known as Fulton Station, old letters addressed to Ben F. Carr, on whose land the larger portion of the city now stands, Fulton was first named Pontotoc, an Indian name.

The letters were dated 1850 and were postmarked "Pontotoc, Fulton County, Kentucky," although at that time all mail for people living here came through the post office at Feliciana, a large town at that time located between Water Valley and Pilot Oak.

An old bill of sale made out by Benjamin Carr and billed to T. W. Behn for supplies from March through September, 1840, proves there was at least a general merchandise store here as early as 1840, and that whiskey sold at five gallons for $2.50.

An old written document in possession of the Carr Family shows that in May, 1861 a convention was held in Mayfield, attended by delegates of the Jackson Purchase, many settlers of which had always been dissatisfied with being a part of Kentucky and Tennessee and in the convention a resolution was introduced, voted upon and adopted that the people of the Purchase secede from respective states and form a new state of their own.

One of the most interesting patients in the West Kentucky Baptist Hospital at Paducah is Mrs. C. E. Lowe, 74-year-old great-grandmother, who retired four years ago as postmistress of Pierce Station, Tenn., south of Fulton, after serving in that capacity for 37 years. She was appointed to the position by President Woodrow Wilson in April, 1917.

Recently, Mrs. Lowe fell at her home and broke her hip.

Although she had retired as postmistress, Mrs. Lowe continued to operate the Lowe's General Store, where the postoffice was located, until the store was closed in 1957. The post office was done away with in 1955.

The Lowe store was the only store in the little community, and had been operated under the Lowe name since 1899.

The "first lady" of Pierce Station is the champion quiltmaker of the vicinity, so she finds plenty to do to take care of the extra time caused by her retirement as postmistress and store keeper.

The grocery store, which was owned and operated by her late husband for over 51 years, was owned for a number of years by her son, H. R. Lowe, but as he traveled for Browder's Mill, was deputy sheriff in Obion County, he left the operation of it to Mrs. Lowe.

Mrs. Lowe's husband opened the store two years before their marriage, and operated it until his death on June 5, 1951.

During her 72 years she has pieced away over a hundred quilts.

She has outfitted her three children's homes with all the quilts they needed, and has completed quilts for her three grandchildren and great grandchildren, besides replacing her own quilts twice, after being burned out.

Mrs. Lowe's main hobby is quilting, although she used to do quite a bit of crocheting and embroidery. She used to keep her quilt pieces at the store and when there was no one around to talk with, she sewed. She does her quilting at night.

Before her granddaughter, Mrs. William Earl Long, married, Mrs. Lowe filled her hope-chest with beautiful scarfs which she crocheted and embroidered.

The energetic lady's other hobby is tending to her flower garden. She loves flowers and grows many each year.

Mrs. Lowe's three children are Ernest Lowe of the Bennett Electric Co. in Fulton, Mrs. Mildred Freeman of Flint, Mich., who is now visiting her mother, and R. J. Lowe.

County Road Could Be Black Topped With Money Sent For Commissioners

An analysis of Highway Department payrolls show that a road ten miles long across Fulton County could be blacktopped with money spent for various advisory highway commissioners.

The report from the Combs-Wyatt headquarters was released by Robert R. Martin and J. David Francis, co-chairmen for the anti-Chandler candidates.

Bert Combs is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination while Wilson Wyatt is in the race for lieutenant governor in the same primary.

A breakdown of figures, the report shows, that eight advisory highway commissioners are on the payroll. Salaries, office help, automobile expenses and other costs run the annual bill to at least $200,000.

In addition, three other aides, recently named in the Rural Highway Department, account for still an additional $50,000, bringing to a quarter of a million the total cost of maintaining eleven political agents on the state payroll. One mile of blacktop costs

'Great River Road' Sought Through Western Tennessee

Nashville—Authorization for location and construction of a "great river road" in West Tennessee is contained in a bill introduced in the House.

The measure, sponsored by Representative B. C. Durham and others, points out the United States Bureau of Public Roads has recommended such a highway from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Under provisions of the bill, the state highway commissioner would be authorized to make studies and determine the feasibility of the route through West Tennessee.

If the commissioner thinks it wise, he could designate the route as part of the state system of highways and go ahead with programming of construction.

The House passed and sent to the Senate Tuesday bills to: Amend state election laws to provide, among other things, that a person may vote if he has lived in a county three months. At present, he must have been a county resident six months before he may cast his ballot.

Raise the application fee for a registered nurse examination from $15 to $20, raise the fee for examination of a licensed practical nurse from $10 to $15, increase the renewal fee for licenses from $2 to $3 and raise the reinstatement fee from $1 to $2.

Change the name of the state Division of Parks to the Division of Parks and Recreation.

Require that, where there is an adverse money decision against a governmental body, the body must be furnished a copy of the court decree.

Permit shoes repairmen to dispose of shoes and boots left at their places of business longer than 60 days.

Authorize a clerk of a domestic relations court to issue an attachment when a person is delinquent in support payments.

Passed by the House and sent to the Governor were bills that would:

Provide that witnesses do not have to be re-suspenaed in the event a court case is continued.

Provide that residents of this state will not have to go to another state for the probate of out-of-town state wills when the wills deal with realty in Tennessee.

Require that, in counties where voting machines are used, notices must be given for special elections 40 days prior to the election and qualifications must be made 30 days before election.

Permit tax notices to be sent by certified mail.

South Marshall Wins Over Fulton

South Marshall took an early lead and held all the way to score a 67-48 decision over Fulton City here Thursday night.

The contest was the season finale for both clubs. The victory gave South Marshall a 23-7 record against a 10-11 mark for the Bulldogs.

The Rebels led 12-9 at the first stop and 23-18 at halftime before they really turned on the steam to pull rapidly away.

Joe Mathis, rugged South pivot, topped scorers for the winners with 20 points. Larry Schroeder added 16.

Roger Pigue, high scoring Fulton City forward, tossed in 26 for game honors.

WASHINGTON REPORT

by your Congressman, Frank Stubblefield

Six busy and eventful weeks have passed since the day this session of Congress opened. On January 7th I stood, along with the other 81 new Members, and took the solemn oath that "I will — faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God."

get Message, and his Agricultural Message. I guess the net effect of my reaction on hearing the messages and studying them back in the office would be disappointment—not disappointment over the basic objectives, but the feeling that the minds and the hearts of the people who helped the President prepare them, and maybe the President himself, were too deeply engaged in what has been, rather than what is to be. In other words, the messages seemer to offer little in the way of grappling with the problems of the cold war and the future development of this Country as a better, healthier and safer place to live, to rear our families, and to educate our children.

AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENT

The No. 1 happening from the standpoint of my service as your Congressman was my appointment

HIGHLIGHTS

The highlights of the session to date include the President's State of the Union Message, his Budget to the House Agriculture Committee. As I indicated at that time, it was a great honor to be assigned to this important Committee in my first term, and I am deeply grateful to John Watts, who represents the Sixth District, and numerous other friends and supporters for this assignment. The assignment to the Agriculture Committee made possible my selection as a member of the Tobacco, Conservation and Credit, and Research and Extension Subcommittees of the Agriculture Committee.

LEGISLATION PASSED BY THE HOUSE

The principal pieces of legislation which have come before the entire House for a vote to date are the four-year extension of the draft and veterans housing. All of us deplore the fact that the communist threat forces us to stay ready to defend ourselves. I supported a simple four-year extension of the draft since insuring the future safety and providing adequately for the defense of our Country far outweighed in importance the inequities and difficulties inherent in the military draft program.

The veterans housing bill provides for making an additional $300 million available for direct veterans housing loans in rural areas, small cities, and towns. There is real need for this program because only a tiny fraction of the almost 30,000 veterans in the First District have been able to get GI housing and farm loans only because the money was not available. I supported this bill enthusiastically because the veterans housing loan program is a good one and the record of repayments has been practically 100%. The program is an outstanding example of the use of government credit so as to benefit individual families and the country as a whole.

I voted to hold the interest rates to 4%; however, the majority voted for the 5%, and after the 4% had lost, I voted for the bill at the 5% rate, even though I think the rate is too high. One of the reasons why the majority voted in favor of the higher rate was the belief that the bill was much less likely to be vetoed by the President if the interest rate was raised.

TVA SELF-FINANCING BILL

I expect hearings to be scheduled within the next few weeks by the Public Works Committee of the House on the TVA Self-Financing Bill, which several of my colleagues in the TVA area and myself have introduced. This bill is the same as the one that passed the Senate last session but did not get through the House. I am extremely hopeful that we will be able to pass this bill in the House and that it will again be passed by the Senate. If we can get the legislation enacted, the uncertainty about adequate power which is holding up industrial development in the TVA area can be eliminated. I will report on the status of this legislation from time to time in the weeks and months ahead.

THANK YOU

Let me close this report by expressing my heartfelt thanks to the hundreds of people who have by letter, by phone, or in person sent their best wishes and expressed their confidence in me. I shall continue to do everything in my power to merit that confidence.

Your Congressman,
Frank A. Stubblefield

IC Freight Is Derailed At Halls

An Illinois Central fast freight between New Orleans and Chicago was derailed recently in the business section at Halls, Tenn., but the crew members escaped injury.

About 25 of the 100 cars were either derailed or overturned. The tracks were ripped up, blocking all rail traffic in the West Tennessee community.

Elmer Hoffus, station agent, said some of the toppled cars came within 25 feet of the station. Some of the box cars broke open.

"A little bit further, and the station would have been demolished," Hoffus said.

The derailment blocked the IC's main line, and No. 8 passenger train to Chicago, which left Memphis at 6:50 a. m., CST had to return to Memphis.

Workmen cleared away debris from a spur which railroad officials said will enable traffic to pass.

Are Ideas About Foods Based On Facts

Are the ideas that you have about foods based on facts, or are they just ideas that have been handed down for generations?

"Food Fads and Fallacies" will be the subject of the Kentucky Homemakers program on WPSD-TV, Channel 6, Wednesday, March 11, 12:30 to 1:00 p. m., according to a report from Mrs. Anna C. Thompson, Area Home Demonstration Extension Agent.

Miss Virginia Burfoot, Area Nutritionist with the State Department of Health, from Murray, Kentucky; Mrs. Vojal Dorris, nutritionist from McCracken, Carlisle, and Marshall County Health Departments; and Dr. Norman Parrot, McCracken County Health Officer, will present this program. They will bring out the differences between fact and fallacies as they apply to foods and nutrition.

As a continuation of the program, a film, "The Medicine Man", which has just been released by the American Medical Association, will be presented on WPSD-TV Friday, March 13, 12:30 to 1:00 p. m.

To bring your nutritional information up to date, you will want to plan now to watch both of these programs.

Southern Bell Builds New Facilities

Southern Bell Telephone Company in 1958 backed up its confidence in the continuing economic growth of the South by building $250 million in new facilities, the company's Annual Report reveals.

The number of telephones in the nine states served by Southern Bell increased by 445,000 and stood at 6,275,000 at year end. Demand for the convenience of the "extension" telephone around the house was the highest ever, with 193,000 of them installed in residences during the 12 months.

Southerners, using Southern Bell telephones, made more calls daily—40 million and placed more long distance calls daily—over 900,000—than in any previous year.

The house new equipment, the company constructed 101 new buildings in the South and additions to 40 existing buildings.

Southern Bell's Annual Report revealing these and other facts was released in Fulton by H. L. Wiley, of the Telephone Company. President Ben S. Gilmer made the report for the company, which serves 174 exchanges in Kentucky.

The report showed 490,000 Southern Bell telephones in Kentucky—an increase of 22,000 over 1957.

Operators now dial about 70 percent of all long distance calls directly to the called city, and customers in 12 exchanges are now able to dial their own long distance station-to-station calls to more than 45 million telephones in as many as 500 cities.

More than half of the company's customers now have one-party or individual-line telephone service, with one in five having four-party service. Ten years ago, while the company was striving to meet exploding postwar demand, only 16 percent had one-party service and 48 percent had four-party telephones.

Southern Bell paid nearly $158 million in federal, state and local taxes, $22½ million more than for 1957. The Kentucky tax bill was $11,100,000. In addition, the 10% federal excise tax on telephone service—paid by customers—amounted to $60 million. Total taxes amounted to $3.02 per telephone per month. The report described the 10% excise tax as "an unnecessary burden on telephone customers which should be repealed." The telephone is the only essential household utility which bears such an excise tax.

The company's bill for employee wages and related costs totaled $288 million. The company has 65,300 employees in the nine states with 4,659 in Kentucky.

The report emphasized the effect of higher costs of providing telephone service and the need for better earnings. The company-wide 5.31% earnings realized in 1958 on the original cost of its property are "less than they should be if we are to plan and build for the future and be able to do those things which prove most beneficial to our customers in the long run." An improvement of a little over one-third of one percent in earnings was noted, "but our earnings rate needs to be higher to be in harmony with the earnings of other business generally," the report stated.

Carr President Of Paramount Gulf Theatres

Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres Inc., today announced the appointment of Kermit Carr as president of Paramount Gulf Theatres Inc. Paramount Gulf is a subsidiary of AB-PT and operates theatres in the principal cities in an eight-state southern region with headquarters in New Orleans.

The Fulton Theatre in this city is operated by Paramount Gulf. Lewis Bizzle is manager of that theatre.

Carr succeeds Henry G. Plitt who was recently elevated to head A. B. C. Films Inc.

He began his theatre career in 1929 and has served in various capacities in the industry. He managed several theatres in Des Moines, Ottumwa and Waterloo for the Tri-States Theatre Corp. During World War II he was, for three years, in the field artillery in the mule pack artillery and a liaison pilot.

Upon his return from active service, Carr rejoined the Tri-State circuit and in 1948 was named district manager for 24 theatres. In 1952 he became a film buyer and two years later was promoted to the position of assistant to A. H. Blank, president of Tri-States.

In December, 1917, Carr became executive assistant to Louis J. Finske, president of the Florida State Theatres Inc., with headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla. where he has headed various projects for that circuit.

Carr is 46 years old. He is expected to arrive in New Orleans on Tuesday, February 24th, where he will be later joined by his daughters, Lynette, 16, and Susan, 9.

FIRST BANK ROBBERY

Jesse James' first bank robbery is depicted in a painting at the Southern Deposit Bank in Russellville, Ky., which James robbed March 20, 1868. He escaped with $17,000 from the bank, whose officials had sent his father to college in 1840.

Needy, Jobless Paid Nearly $100 Million

Nearly 100 million dollars was paid to unemployed workers and needy families or individuals during 1958 under programs administered by the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, the agency reports.

The department added:

This was an increase of 19.2 million dollars over 1957's sum. To help counteract the worst economic recession of the last two decades, unemployment insurance payments were increased by 16.2 million dollars to a record high total of 49.8 million dollars in 1958.

Of this, the Kentucky trust fund provided 46.4 million dollars and special federal funds 3.4 million dollars for veterans and federal employees.

Public assistance payments in 1958 totaled 50.1 million dollars, an increase of three million over the previous year. Payments included 27.6 million dollars for the needy aged, 17.4 million for dependent children, 3.5 million for the permanently and totally disabled, and 1.6 million for the needy blind.

Burns Fatal To Clinton Woman, 76

A 76-year-old Clinton woman was fatally burned recently when her clothing caught fire from an oil cooking stove.

Mrs. Sallie Gardner Berry died at 7 a. m. in Clinton-Hickman County Hospital, about three hours after the accident. She was preparing breakfast when her clothing caught fire.

Hearing her screams, her son, Robert Berry, rushed to her aid and smothered out the flames. He suffered burns on both hands.

The son lived at the home of his mother. She has no other survivors.

WALTER SMITH ATKINS, Fulton, has been named advisory chairman for the Waterfield-Ford-Governor campaign for the East end of Fulton County. The appointment was announced in Louisville by Leavelle J. Jackson, organizational chairman in the state headquarters. Mr. Atkins is pictured above (left) with Lt. Governor Waterfield in the state headquarters in the Watterson Hotel in Louisville. Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

MATURITY DATES

With maturity dates approaching for a number of grains which are under price support in this area, Obion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee Chairman Vaughn today reminded farmers that they should be alert to market prices that will enable them to redeem these loans at a profit.

"Farmers who redeem their price support loans and take advantage of price increases on local markets are using the support program as it was intended to be used," Mr. Vaughn said. "The price support rate tends to set a floor under local prices. It also protects farmers from the low market prices that usually exist at the height of the harvest season. If the market rises to a point where farmers can sell on the open market and still repay their loans plus interest with a profit, it is better for them to do this rather than deliver their grain to the government in settlement of the loan."

Mr. Vaughn urged farmers to check with their local ASC office if they have loans that might be redeemed profitably. Grain loan maturity dates in this county are:

Wheat loans maturity date, February 28, 1959.
Soybean loans maturity date, May 31, 1959.
Corn loans maturity date, July 31, 1959.

NOTICES GO OUT

Notices have gone out to all operators of farms with upland cotton allotments, informing them of the available price support for 1959. Mr. C. C. Vaughn, Chairman, Obion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. The notices also state that March 16 is the deadline for the operator to register his choice between the (A) and (B) allotments and price support for his farm.

Only farm operators will receive these notices, the Chairman pointed out, since the operator is the person who elects a choice for the farm and his choice is binding.

Meeting Food Needs Of Older People

Although a person of 65 or 70 may retire from active work, he can never retire from responsibility for eating the kinds and amounts of foods he needs, says Mrs. McLeod, home demonstration agent in Fulton County.

Not eating the right kinds or amounts of food may cause poor health, which may result in that persistent tired feeling, anxiety over small things, a gloomy outlook in life, and too little or too much weight.

Usually the older person isn't so active physically as he was when younger, but he still needs well-balanced meals, although in lesser amounts. A variety of foods will make meals more interesting and stimulate the appetite.

Foods that contain protein and minerals—meats, milk, cheese, poultry, fish and eggs—are especially important for the upkeep of body tissues and bone. It would be ideal if some protein food were eaten at every meal, says this home economist, and at least two glasses of milk a day is a must.

Fruits and vegetables are important for their vitamins, minerals, and starch or sugar, the last two providing fuel for energy and warmth. Green or yellow vegetables should be eaten daily, and may be served cooked more often than raw.

SILAGE ON THE DINNER TABLE

This doesn't mean we are to dine on a portion of silage in the future, however it does indicate the ability of beef steers to utilize silage in the production of quality meat.

The feeding of more silage is one answer to producing cheaper beef. Once it was believed that good beef could only be produced in the corn belt by feeding primarily corn. Our forebears prided themselves on their ability to top the market. It mattered not if a steer waddled off the farm after having consumed 150 to 200 bushels of corn. The main thing was that he topped the market.

Those days are gone. We now face an entirely different set of conditions. The modern day consumers do not want excessively finished beef. To be sure, fancy hotel and restaurant trade will take the ribs and loins of a certain volume of prime beef, but the remainder of the carcass has to be marketed too. Test after test proves Mrs. Average Housewife will choose a high good or choice cut of beef over the prime cuts. This is not guess work it is a proven fact, even with the same price tag on the three grades.

Indications are that an important factor affecting beef production in the future will be silage. This useful feed has been kicked around the country for half a century. While its use has been increasing in recent years, the field has been scarcely scratched. Economic beef can be produced with a silage ration.

Modern methods make it possible to harvest, store and feed silage with a minimum of labor thus overcoming the big criticism of a quarter of a century ago.

MAKES THE BEST BETTER!

Nobody has found a better way to move this world's goods than the steel wheel on the steel rail. It's an unbeatable combination. Yet each year we improve it.

Our latest improvement is a 600-word-per-minute teleprinter that transmits faster than the human brain can think. No matter how fast a car travels, its progress is charted ahead; every move is planned to the moment of delivery.

This is only one of many improvements that each year make the Illinois Central more successful in its service to Mid-America... one of many ways we are making the best better!

LET'S FINISH THE JOB!

Saturday's SWIM-A-THON must raise $8000 so our new pool can open this summer

Fulton's handsome new 90-foot pool as it looks today.

In order to finish the pool, an indebtedness of $1846 must be paid off, and a bath house added... and YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

PLEASE DO YOUR PART --- contribute what you can --- help the Willow Plunge Pool Corporation get this splendid new recreation facility completed and open for all-summer enjoyment!

Then after it's open --- come out with your whole family and enjoy it yourself!

Beginning at 9:30 a. m. next Saturday a marathon (Swim-A-THON!) campaign for funds will be broadcast over Radio Station WFUL to raise the needed funds to finish Fulton's new pool. The program will be held at the Fulton Woman's Club building, and, to keep things lively between telephone calls, a great array of musical talent will be on hand to perform through the day.

You are cordially invited to come and see this program. Some of the highlights will include the Lambuth Choir from Jackson, Tennessee; the Nancy Adams combo from Murray, and other talent from Fulton, Hickman, Obion and surrounding counties.

COME if you can, but if you can't, KEEP YOUR RADIO DIAL TUNED TO WFUL AT "1270"!

Artist's conception of pool as it will look with bath-house.

THOMAS LINCOLN
According to local tradition, Thomas Lincoln, Abraham's father, lived at Elizabethtown, Ky., as early as 1796. Hardin County records show that in 1804-05 he served on juries there, guarded prisoners and was assessed for a horse. Thomas and Nancy Hawks set up housekeeping there soon after their marriage in 1806. Seekers of Lincolniana during Kentucky's celebration of the Great Emancipator's 150th birth anniversary in 1959 will find a pilgrimage to this city promising.

Local Farmers To Attend PCA Silver Anniversary In Louisville

Local farm people from Fulton County will go to Louisville next Tuesday, March 10, for the state-wide celebration of the 25th Anniversary of Production Credit in Kentucky.

Those from Fulton County include T. R. Williamson, President of Fulton County Farm Bureau; Roy Bard, Chairman of Fulton County ASC Committee; Parnell Garrigan, Director of Jackson Purchase PCA; Harold Shaw, Voc-Ag teacher at Fulton County High School and John P. Wilson, local filedman for the PCA.

The local group will be joined by other such groups representing the farmer-members of the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association, which serves farmers in McCracken, Ballard, Carlisle, Marshall, Graves, Calloway, Hickman and Fulton Counties. All ten of the PCA's in Kentucky will be represented by about 400 farm people from all sections of the state.

Chartered in February, 1934, under the Farm Credit Act providing for a nation-wide system of farmer-owned production credit associations, the Production Credit Association made its first loans in the Spring of that year. In the ensuing 25 years, farmers of Fulton County and seven other counties have obtained loans amounting to more than $40,000,000 from the Jackson Purchase PCA. Government capital invested in the association to help it get started has long since been repaid and the association's $690,234.00 of capital and reserves.

The state-wide silver anniversary celebration will take the form of a mid-day banquet at the Kentucky Hotel, With Horace S. Cleveland, Pleasureville, president, several farmers will relate old-time experiences with credit, and representative of the Extension Service, Vocational Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and others will tell how the co-operative Production Credit System has benefited agriculture. The headline speaker for the occasion will be John Strohm, Woodstock, Illinois, work travelers, author and agriculturist.

Strohm visited Communist China at the height of the Quomoy bombardment in October, 1958, and traveled some 7,500 miles behind the Bamboo curtain, talking with hundreds of Chinese and taking many pictures. He made headlines in 1946 by becoming the first American reporter allowed to roam freely through the Soviet hinterland. In 1955

THE PURCHASE

The Purchase, one of Kentucky's six physical regions, gets its name from the fact that it was purchased from the Chickasaw Indians.

FARMERS!!

Do you plan to swap tractors, trade cars or trucks, build dairy barns, buy livestock, or make other major improvements? If so and you don't have the cash, you owe it to yourself to investigate PCA's plan for financing this kind of investment. The Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association has a plan that is especially tailored for farmers and is convenient and economical.

1. Loans are made for one to five years.
2. Payments are due when crops and livestock are sold.
3. Interest is figured only on the number of days the money is used.
4. There is an adequate supply of money at all times.
5. No co-signer is required.
6. All capital stock is owned by local farmers.
7. Loans may be covered by credit life insurance.

PCA also makes loans to purchase fertilizer, seed, fuel, and for other operating expenses.

More of the better farmers are using the Production Credit plan to finance their farm programs.

For a dependable convenient loan that will make you money, see John P. Wilson at the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association for your credit needs.

Picket Stops Roof Work On Seed Plant

A one-man picket-line protesting "sub-standard" wages paid by a roofing subcontractor temporarily halted construction work
Monday on the million-dollar Ferry-Morse Seed Company plant.
After a conference, it was agreed that all workers except roofers would proceed with the job while the roofers' wages are negotiated.

The picket said he was ordered to picket the construction job by Roofers Local 115 of Memphis, which has jurisdiction over this territory.

The union is protesting a reported wage of $1.35 an hour being paid roofers on the Ferry-Morse job by the roofing sub-contractor, the Francis Roofing Co.

City Attorney James Warren, accompanied by Mayor Nelson Tripp and Police Chief Rex Rudi-dle, went to the plant site to talk with the picket and ask him if he would take down the line. The picket did so only after union officials in Memphis were called, thus permitting all crafts except the roofers to continue to work.

Meanwhile, under the agreement, the disagreement would be negotiated.

ton, last year. He was indicted by the grand jury on Sept. 11 and was jailed until he posted bond.
His case was scheduled to come up in Obion county circuit court on Jan. 13 and Roach appeared in court a few hours before the case was called. He slipped out of the courtroom, however, the sheriff said, and stole the car of his enraged wife, making good his escape. He was located a few weeks later in Madison but extradition was held up until his treatments were completed.

The Obion county grand jury in January indicted him for the car theft.

The shooting of M. E. Roach occurred in the home of the elder man following an argument.
Roach said he fired the shotgun in self defense and that his fath-would have to have some cash for the first quarter. However, he was told that once he was in and worked hard, they would probably keep him.

Now he began to plan his campaign. After sending in his application, including the necessary transcripts, he had a lot of key people that he knew send in a flood of recommendations for him. During this time, he did not receive one bit of encouragement from the college!

With $50.00 which he had borrowed from Mr. Lewis Burke of Fulton, Route 2, he arrived at Lincoln Memorial University on New Year's Day in 1932. He knew the names of the three men who decided the fate of students like him and he was well aware of the relative power of each. With this knowledge he set out to introduce himself to these ruling powers. The first man turned him down flat! The second man just couldn't see how they could take him. But the third told him that if he would pay $50.00 to the college and try to get more money for the succeeding quarters, he would be allowed to stay.

To get more money meant that he would have to go to work, and the only work available to him was in the rock quarry. He enthusiastically accepted and went to work that afternoon for 25¢ per hour. From then on, he worked all of the time at just about every possible kind of job imaginable.
He mowed lawns, repaired roads, quarried rock, shoveled coal, swept floors, carried the school mail, dug ditches, fired furnaces, served as night watchman, graded English themes by the thousands, worked in the school laundry and in addition, he wrote themes and term papers for other students for a nominal fee. He also served as student proctor or disciplinarian in the freshman men's dormitory.

For 21 calendar months, with no visits home, and never staying more than ten hours at a time away from the campus, he continued this struggle. But finally the battle was won and in 1933, he graduated with second honors in a class of about fifty. His brother graduated in this same year. Guy had paid $50.00 in cash and his brother, $16.50. The rest they had worked out at 20¢ and 25¢ per hour.

He began to teach and a few years after he had graduated, he had paid his debts in full. At that time, the best paying job in the teaching field was teaching Vocational Agriculture. Thus he decided to go back to school at Knoxville and get his Agricultural degree. It was impossible to work for his expenses now because he had such a heavy academic load.
Through money which he borrowed from Mr. Lewis Burke, Mr.
Ben Golden, and Mr. W. W. Morris of Fulton, he finished his college education. He subsequently paid these debts by teaching Vocational Agriculture at Dixie High School.

Mr. Finch says this of his college training, "It came very hard and took a long time. But when one realizes that the years I spent in college were lost years for most people, due to the hard times, I feel that they were good years.
I had a choice of living poorly, working hard, and going to school, or just living poorly and working hard. I chose school and did the best I knew to do with my opportunities and abilities as it was given to me to see them."
